Australia & New Zealand Shore Excursions

As well as the island of Tasmania and several smaller islands, Australia covers the mainland continent. It is the sixth-largest country in the world by total area. For more than 38,000 years before Australia was 'discovered' by Dutch explorers in 1606, Indigenous Australians (aboriginals) populated the continent. There are six states and several territories in the country, each distinct from the others, offering a whole new world of discovery. See what it has to offer Australia. Browse through our range of shore excursions in Australia.

Two major landmasses, the North and South Islands, and several smaller islands make up New Zealand. It is located 900 miles east of Australia and about 600 miles south of Fiji's Pacific Islands. The islands were first inhabited by Polynesians known as the Maori sometime around 1300AD. 300 years prior to the Europeans, they reached New Zealand. The effect of the two cultures and the unique biodiversity of both animal and plant life in the countries make up a stunning tapestry that is more than just appealing to the eye.

Without an Athens shore excursion, where you can walk up the Acropolis to marvel at the Parthenon or stroll along the famous Plaka, no European tour is complete. ## North America Shore Excursions

North America is the world's third largest continent, offering a range of landscapes, immense mountains, popular national parks, historic sites and exciting cities. You will experience many beautiful moments on a North American cruise and discover fascinating locations. Consequently, in North America, many cruise lines (such as Norwegian Cruise Line, Princess Cruises, Royal Caribbean) sell cruises. You may, for example, select an East Coast cruise with highlights like New York or Miami's sunshine. The West Coast of the United States and San Francisco or Los Angeles are equally famous. The sexy Alaska, Hawaii, Canada, Mexico, the Bahamas and parts of the Caribbean are other potential destinations on a North American cruise.

North America has distinct faces, depending on the season. Thanks to the numerous climate zones, North America Cruises are available all year round. Cruises from New York to other destinations or to New York from other destinations are the most common. You can take a flight or a transatlantic cruise to New York. You should look forward to the Caribbean flair on the way to Nassau from Miami (Bahamas). With Vancouver, Quebec, Montreal and Nova Scotia, Canada offers not only beautiful cities, but also beautiful natural landscapes. The trip to Alaska, which is mostly paired with a cruise to the west coast of the USA, is a very unique experience.

Depending on the destination, cruises to North America are usually possible all year round. It is also unsurprising that shipping companies sell year-round cruises as well. European shipping firms, however, do not sell monthly trips to all North American destinations. AIDA Cruises, for instance, only operates the East Coast ports from August to November. The tours from New York to Montreal, where you can marvel at the incomparable foliage of Indian summers, are particularly popular here. Such shore excursions can be carried out on a North American cruise, city tours, sightseeing of major attractions, a relaxing day on the beach or visiting impressive national parks.

Pacific Coast Shore Excursions

The areas of the West Coast of North America share the mighty Pacific in common, but otherwise give very distinct experiences to travellers. Our California cruise offers you the chance to see San Diego's sandy beaches and San Francisco's glittering hills, with some of the popular wine regions of the state as well as towering redwoods nearby. Continuing north, our West Coast cruise takes you to the rugged coasts of Oregon, and the dramatic windswept grandeur is all about Washington.

Finally, the Pacific coast cruise takes you to British Columbia, a province of Canada, so you can explore rain forests and fjord-like canals, see where orcas swim, bears roam the coast, and eagles fly overhead. Head west, and you will discover a world that is likely to enchant you as well as awe you.

The West Coast Shore Excursions are a wow from start to finish.

A fascinating colonial refuge with a rich cultural history is the Panama Canal

A Panama Canal cruise is a very interesting and thrilling experience that features many excellent ports. Although your transportation is the priority of the cruise lines, we focus on your destination. Shore Excursions Company provides an excellent range of Panama Canal cruise excursions for our clients, from the tropical elegance of the Caribbean in the East to lush Costa Rica in Central America to the rich culture of the Mexican Riviera in the West (and many ports in between). Enjoy a shore excursion to the world renowned Stingray City in Grand Cayman, where you can swim with friendly stingrays.

Climb aboard a riverboat on one of our Costa Rica shore excursions to see the stunning flora and fauna of this lush destination. Enjoy a shore excursion in Acapulco to see the city's highlights, including the world-famous cliff divers, as they plunge far below into the water.

South America Shore Excursions

One of the most interesting locations on Earth is South America. Although your transportation is the priority of the cruise lines, we focus on your destination. Shore Excursions Company provides an excellent range of South America cruise excursion experiences for our clients, from Santiago Chile in the West to Ushuaia at the southernmost tip of South America to Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro in the East (and several ports in between).

Enjoy a shore excursion to the fascinating city centre in Buenos Aires or fly to an authentic horse ranch where “Gauchos” can share with you their special way of life. You can see the Parliament Palace and the many other architectural and cultural highlights of this city on one of our Montevideo shore tour trips. Enjoy a shore excursion to the world-famous Sugar Loaf with its spectacular city views in Rio de Janeiro, or explore Corcovado and the fascinating statue of Christ the Redeemer.

South Pacific Shore Excursions

When cruising to Vanuatu, Fiji, Papua New Guinea, Tahiti or New Caledonia, excursions are a major part of the cruise experience. The South Pacific is known for its gorgeous beaches and its warm climate, but there are plenty of other attractions and enjoyable ways to spend your day in the harbour.

For many cruise lines, South Pacific ports like Noumea and Port Denarau are frequent stops. Some, like Papua New Guinea's remote Padang, would likely be a once-in-a-lifetime experience. Even if you are an independent traveller, unless you book the cruise line's shore trips, it may not be possible to completely enjoy any of these destinations. Others are great for just sitting on the seafront.

We've come up with a list of the most famous South Pacific ports, as rated by cruise passengers, to make your decision easier.
